

Semantic similarities in Generalization

- In general it should be guided by the application
- The application will inform the on-demand generalization process
- Weighting between semantic and spatial similarity
- Feature similarity measures could be enriched by taking class similarity
- This approach could go in different directions
- It is interesting to investigate similarity and relevance